

Next to Handpresso or myPressi Twist, Stelton's "Simply espresso" broadens the range of mobile espresso machines though referring to Stelton it "can hardly be called a "machine". It is a simple way of making good espresso without compromising on taste. A great space saving device, great results without investing in expensive machinery" and furthermore it's "the ideal gift for the man - he will just have to own the first and smallest battery-powered espresso machine in the world."

Technical data

Materials - stainless steel and plastic

Height - 23 cm

Width - ø 8 cm

Designed - 2009

- The world's smallest espresso "machine"
- Battery-powered and thus mobile

Further information: www.stelton.dk